Poverty eradication is the greatest global challenge facing the world today and an indispensable requirement for sustainable development. We are therefore committed to freeing humanity from poverty, avoidable diseases and hunger as a matter of urgency.

We recognize that poverty eradication, changing unsustainable and promoting sustainable patterns of consumption and production and protecting and managing the natural resource base of economic and social development are the overarching objectives of and essential requirements for sustainable development. We further recognize that all development efforts need to contribute to achieve the ultimate goal of securing that every human being will be able to live a long, healthy and creative life.

We reaffirm our commitment to fully implement the Rio Declaration on Environment and Development, Agenda 21, the Programme for the Further Implementation of Agenda 21, the Plan of Implementation of the World Summit on Sustainable Development (Johannesburg Plan of Implementation) and the Johannesburg Declaration on Sustainable Development of the World Summit on Sustainable Development, the Programme of Action for the Sustainable Development of Small Island Developing States (Barbados Programme of Action) and the Mauritius Strategy for the Further Implementation of the Programme of Action for the Sustainable Development of Small Island Developing States. We also reaffirm our commitment to the full implementation of the Programme of Action for the Least Developed Countries for the Decade 2011-2020 (Istanbul Programme of Action), the Almaty Programme of Action: Addressing the Needs of Landlocked Developing Countries within a New Global Framework for Transit Transport Cooperation for Landlocked and Transit Developing Countries, the political declaration on Africa's development needs, and the New Partnership for Africa's Development. We further commit to the full implementation of the 2001 UN Declaration of Commitment on HIV/AIDS, the 2006 and 2011 UN Political Declaration on HIV/AIDS and the 2000 United Nations Millennium Declaration.

Formatiert: Schriftart: (Standard)

Kommentar [A1]: Reaffirmations of commitments in this draft text do so far not at all mention fundamental UN-declarations on health and HIV&AIDS-topics. The UN commitment to “achieve, by 2015, Universal Access to HIV prevention, treatment, care and support as a critical step towards ending the global HIV epidemic” (Political Declaration on HIV/AIDS 2011, Para 51) is also committed to in the 2012 Rio+20 outcome document “The future we want”, para 40.

We reaffirm that we continue to be guided by the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations, with full respect for international law and its principles. We further reaffirm the importance of freedom, peace and security, respect for all human rights, including the right to development and the right to an adequate standard of living, including the right to food, the right to the enjoyment of the highest attainable standard of physical and mental health, the rule of law, good governance, gender equality, women's empowerment and the overall commitment to just and democratic societies for development. We reaffirm the importance of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, as well as other international instruments relating to human rights and international law.

We recognize that people are at the centre of sustainable development and, in this regard, we strive for a world that is just, equitable and inclusive, and we commit to work together to promote sustained and inclusive economic growth, social development and environmental protection and thereby to benefit all.

We affirm that there are different approaches, visions, models and tools available to each country, in accordance with its national circumstances and priorities, to achieve sustainable development in its three dimensions.

We recognize that each country faces specific challenges to achieve sustainable development, and we underscore the special challenges facing the most vulnerable countries and, in particular, African countries, least developed countries, landlocked developing countries and small island developing States, as well as the specific challenges facing the middle-income countries. Countries in situations of conflict also need special attention.

We reaffirm all the principles of the Rio Declaration on Environment and Development, including, inter alia, the principle of common but differentiated responsibilities, as set out in principle 7 thereof.²
June 2014

We reaffirm our commitment to strengthen international cooperation to address the persistent challenges related to sustainable development for all, in particular in developing countries. Sustainable development can only be achieved with a broad alliance of people, governments, civil society and the private sector, all working together to secure the future we want for present and future generations.

We reaffirm that the means of implementation identified in Agenda 21, the Programme for the Further Implementation of Agenda 21, the Johannesburg Plan of Implementation, the Monterrey Consensus of the International Conference on Financing for Development and the Doha Declaration on Financing for Development are indispensable for achieving the full and effective translation of sustainable development commitments into tangible sustainable development outcomes. We reiterate that each country has primary responsibility for its own economic and social development and that the role of national policies, domestic resources and development strategies cannot be overemphasized. We reaffirm that developing countries need additional resources for sustainable development. Therefore, we firmly commit to fulfil the obligation of developed countries to provide as a minimum 0.7 percent of GNI as Official Development Assistance preferably in the form of grants.

We recognize the need for significant mobilization of resources from a variety of sources and the effective use of financing, in order to promote sustainable development. We acknowledge that good governance and the rule of law at the national and international levels are essential for sustained, inclusive and equitable economic growth, sustainable development and the eradication of poverty and hunger.

Sustainable Development Goals are accompanied by targets and will be further elaborated through indicators focused on measurable outcomes. They are action oriented, global in nature and universally applicable to all countries, while taking into account different national realities, capacities and levels of development and respecting national policies and priorities. They integrate economic, social and environmental aspects and recognize their interlinkages in achieving sustainable development in all its dimensions.²

Kommentar [A2]: It is incomprehensible, why there is a narrow focus in terms of age. A health life for ALL does already include all stages of life and all life situations such as specific living conditions of most-at-risk and most marginalized and vulnerable populations.

Kommentar [A3]: „End HIV“ by 2030 is a misleading formulation. It is more precise to differentiate and rather go for an end of new HIV infections and the AIDS epidemic. Due to medication, millions of people with HIV will – hopefully – have a long and healthy life beyond 2030 and still be living with HIV.

Formatiert: Schriftart: (Standard) Arial, 11 pt, Englisch (USA)

Formatiert: Schriftart: (Standard) Arial, 11 pt, Englisch (USA)

Kommentar [A6]: The rights aspect is fundamental to ensure universality of sexual and reproductive health from a gender perspective

Kommentar [A7]: This goal should include the target „ensure universal knowledge on sexual and reproductive health and rights“ as it is fundamental to achieve the end of the HIV-epidemic and as such, the end of AIDS. See Proposed goal 3.3
